

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

ASHLEIGH ANGELO, et al.,

Case No. 1:21-cv-01609-JLT-BAK (SKO)

Plaintiffs,

ORDER DENYING WITHOUT PREJUDICE PROPOSED STIPULATED PROTECTIVE ORDER

v.

THOMSON INTERNATIONAL,
INCORPORATED,

(Doc. 25)

Defendant.

I. INTRODUCTION

On June 6, 2022, the parties filed a request seeking Court approval of their proposed stipulated protective order. (Doc. 25.) The Court has reviewed the proposed stipulated protective order and has determined that, in its current form, it cannot be granted. For the reasons set forth below, the Court DENIES without prejudice the parties' request to approve the stipulation and protective order.

II. DISCUSSION

A. The Protective Order Does Not Comply with Local Rule 141.1(c)

The proposed protective order does not comply with Rule 141.1 of the Local Rules of the United States District Court, Eastern District of California. Pursuant to Rule 141.1(c), any proposed protective order submitted by the parties must contain the following provisions:

- (1) A description of the types of information eligible for protection under the order, with the description provided in general terms sufficient to reveal the nature of the information (e.g., customer list, formula for soda, diary of a troubled child);
- (2) A showing of particularized need for protection as to each category of information proposed to be covered by the order; and
- (3) A showing as to why the need for protection should be addressed by a court order, as opposed to a private agreement between or among the parties.

E.D. Cal. L.R. 141.1(c). The stipulated protective order fails to contain some of this required information.

Local Rule 141.1(c)(1) requires “[a] description of the types of information eligible for protection under the order, with the description provided in general terms sufficient to reveal the nature of the information.” The protective order, in its current form, does not comply with this requirement. (See, e.g., Doc. 25 at 2 (indicating that “any document, testimony, or information the DESIGNATING PARTY believes in good faith to contain confidential, personal, business, financial, trade secret, or other proprietary information” may be designated as confidential).)

In addition, the protective order also fails to identify the parties’ need for protection in anything but the most general terms. (See id.) As the parties do not present any particularized need for protection as to the identified categories of information to be protected, the protective order fails to comply with Local Rule 141.1(c)(2), which requires “[a] showing of particularized need for protection as to each category of information proposed to be covered by the order.”

B. The Parties’ Stipulated Protective Order is Denied Without Prejudice

The parties may re-file a revised proposed stipulated protective order that complies with Local Rule 141.1(c) and corrects the deficiencies set forth in this order.

III. CONCLUSION AND ORDER

Based on the foregoing, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the parties’ request for approval of their proposed Stipulated Protective Order (Doc. 25) is DENIED without prejudice to renewing the request.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
